

Symantec Encryption (PGP) Privacy Notice

Effective: April 20, 2016

Purpose and Scope

This Privacy Notice explains what data Symantec collects or processes from You and what we do with this data when You use Symantec Encryption and applies to data collected through or related to Your use of Symantec Encryption. Unless otherwise specified, this Privacy Notice does not apply to any other products/services or to data collected in any other way (online or offline) or for any other purpose.

Automatically Collected and Transmitted Information ("Transmitted Information")

Symantec Encryption collects from Your environment, and automatically transmits to Symantec, data, which may include, without limitation:

- Administrator contact information and email address;
- Log files to support troubleshooting;
- Software configuration, product details and installation status;
- License status, license entitlement information, license ID and license usage;
- Device name, type, OS version, language, location, browser type and version, IP address and ID;
- Device hardware, software and application inventory;
- Application and database access configurations, policy requirements and policy compliance status, and application exception and workflow failure logs;
- Information associated with possible threats including: client security event information, IP address, User ID, path, device information such as device name and status, files downloaded, file actions;
- File and application reputation information including file downloads, actions and executing application information, and malware submissions;
- Application exception and workflow failure logs; and/or
- Personal information provided during configuration of the service or any other subsequent service call.

For purposes of this Privacy Statement, "personal information" means information that can be used to reasonably identify an individual. We may also collect Your personal information when You contact us about any Symantec product or service, such as for technical support.

Automatically Collected and Stored Data ("Stored Data")

Symantec Encryption collects from Your environment, and stores in Your environment, data, which may include, without limitation:

- User name, password/passphrase, private keys, public keys, email address, domain name, and storage device identifiers.

The above Stored Data is used to enable the functionality of Symantec Encryption and is not transmitted back to Symantec.

How We Use Your Transmitted Data or Personal Information (collectively, "Information")

Transmitted Information may be used as follows:

- Enabling and optimizing the performance of Symantec Encryption;
- Limiting damage done by installed malware;
- Providing support or debugging assistance;
- Sending You or others promotional information, in accordance with Your permission, as required by applicable law;
- Deriving statistics from Your data to track and publish reports on security risks/trends;
- Research and development, such as improving Symantec's products or services (e.g., to better protect You, such as by using data analytics to protect Your network/data);
- License administration;
- Combating fraud or any other criminal activity;
- For any other purpose with Your consent;
- Improving the detection of malware;
- File sample analysis to discover advanced malware; and/or
- Statistical analysis of product deployment, including analysis of trends and comparisons in our aggregated install base.

How We Transfer, Store and Disclose Your Information

We are a global organization and may transfer Your Information to other countries, including countries that may have less protective data protection laws than the country in which You are located (including the European Union). For the purposes described in this privacy statement, Your Information (i) may be stored and processed manually and/or electronically through global systems and tools, (ii) may be disclosed to vendors or third parties that process data on behalf of Symantec, (iii) may be disclosed in connection with any proposed or actual sale or other transfer of some or all assets of Symantec in the event of a reorganization, merger, acquisition, or sale of our assets; and/or (iv) may be disclosed as otherwise permitted by You.

Symantec Encryption (PGP) Privacy Notice

To promote research, awareness, detection or prevention of security risks, Symantec may disclose Information to relevant public and private entities such as cybersecurity research organizations and security software vendors. In such cases, we will endeavor to anonymize such information or to minimize any personal information in it to the extent reasonably possible without defeating purposes of security risk research, awareness, detection or prevention.

Subject to applicable laws, Symantec reserves the right to cooperate with any legal process, or any law enforcement or other government inquiry, related to Your use of Symantec Encryption, including disclosing Information if relevant to a court subpoena or to a law enforcement or other government investigation, or as otherwise required by our legal obligations.

How We Protect Your Information

To protect Information, we have taken reasonable and appropriate administrative, technical, organizational and physical security and risk management measures, in accordance with applicable laws.

Your Obligation to Personal Information

It is Your responsibility to ensure that any disclosure by You to Symantec of personal information of Your users or third parties is in compliance with applicable privacy and data security laws, including informing users and third parties that You are providing their personal information to Symantec, informing them of how it will be transferred, used or processed, and gathering appropriate consents and other legal measures required for such transfer, use or processing.

Data Access

Under certain circumstances, You may be able to request to access, update, correct or remove personal information we have about You. We may retain certain Information if necessary to prevent fraud or future abuse, or as otherwise required or permitted by law.

Contact Us

Please contact us at privacyteam@symantec.com if You have any questions.

Changes To This Privacy Notice

We reserve the right to revise or modify this Privacy Notice, and will note the date of its most recent revision above. If we make significant changes to this Privacy Notice, and where required by applicable law, we will either notify You either by prominently posting a notice of such changes prior to implementing the changes or by directly sending You a notification.
