Subject: Product Obsolescence

Dear Customer,

As part of the product life cycle management program at the Optoelectronics Division of Hewlett-Packard, you are being notified of some products that will soon be obsolete. Final orders for these products must be placed by December 31, 1999 with final shipments taken by June 30, 2000.

[Group A: Automotive Exterior Products (B0000 option for HPWT-xL00 series)]

HP is making the B0000 option for HPWT-xL00 series parts obsolete. This option is redundant. Its definition is identical to the -00000 option. Customers must use the -00000 option for future orders.

[Group B: Automotive Exterior Products (C0000 option for HPWT-xH00 series)]

HP is making the -C0000 option for HPWT-xH00 series parts obsolete. Our current production flux distribution does not contain enough category C parts to support this number. Customers must use the -D0000 option for future orders.

[Group C: 5mm AlInGaP Lamps (new part numbering system)]

In October 1998, Hewlett-Packard introduced a new part numbering system for T-1 $\frac{3}{4}$ AlInGaP lamps. The old part numbering system was maintained in parallel. The old part numbers will be discontinued as of December 31, 1999. This is primarily a discontinuation of part numbers, not a discontinuation of devices. We recommend that you verify the specification of the replacement part number and begin purchasing the nearest equivalent part in the new system, rather than placing a lifetime buy.

Note to Distributors and HP Field Engineers: This obsolescence category also contains a small number of HLMA-xxxx part numbers that do not have a direct replacement in the new HLMP-Exxx part numbering system. Also, you will find products on this list that have an option code for taping and/or selection. For taping, the replacement lamp exists but the part number designating the equivalent taping option will often need to be established in the new HLMP-Exxx system on a case by case basis.

[Group D: Inactive High Performance Lamps]

Our records show no order activity over the past two years for these products. If this is not indicative of your future needs, please let us know. Otherwise, we request that you place your life time buys at this time.

Note to Distributors and HP Field Engineers: In some cases a "standard" replacement part has been listed. If interested, customers should sample the replacement parts to ensure that the part will meet their requirements.

[Group E: Low volume S-4 and Annunciators]

Our records show a low volume of activity over the past two years. If this is not indicative of your future needs, please let us know. Otherwise, we request that you place your life time buys at this time.

[Group F: Low volume Integrated Displays]

Our records show a low volume of activity over the past two years. If this is not indicative of your future needs, please let us know. Otherwise, we request that you place your life time buys at this time.

[Group G: Low volume Through-Hole Lamps]

Our records show a low volume of activity over the past two years. If this is not indicative of your future needs, please let us know. Otherwise, we request that you place your life time buys at this time.

Hewlett-Packard Company

[Group H: Low volume Polyleds]

Our records show a low volume of activity over the past two years. If this is not indicative of your future needs, please let us know. Otherwise, we request that you place your life time buys at this time.

[Group Z: Low volume Polyled Arrays]

Hewlett-Packard has decided to discontinue the production of LED multiple element right angle array housings. This will affect all LED part numbers of the type: HLMP-XXXX#102, #104, #105, #106, #107, and #108, as well as all QLMP-XXXX part numbers based on the above standard devices. We are pleased to be able to recommend replacement devices from Dialight Corporation, USA. The replacement parts from Dialight will be available starting March 15, 1999. These replacement parts use high quality HP LEDs and have identical dimensions and functionality as their HP equivalents. The Dialight part numbers are identical to their HP equivalents.

Again, final orders for the products listed must be placed by December 31, 1999, and final shipments made by June 30, 2000. Please do not hesitate to call if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Hewlett-Packard Field Sales Engineer
