Proctored Exams

There is a seven (7) calendar day waiting period after all failed attempts for proctored VMware certification exams:

- VMware Certified Technical Associate (VCTA)
- VMware Certified Professional (VCP)
- VMware Certified Advanced Professional (VCAP)
- Master Specialist
- Specialist
- Skill

For example, if a candidate fails the exam on March 1st, they may retake the exam on March 8th or later. Once a candidate passes a proctored exam, they cannot take that exam again until a new major exam revision is released.

Non-Proctored Exams

There is no waiting period after a failed attempt for a non-proctored exam. Once a candidate passes a non-proctored exam, they cannot take that exam again until a new major exam revision is released.
